THE ARGUS,
AND UNION COUNTY ADVERTISER.
Vol. 4. Marysville, Ohio, December 6, 1848. No. 28.

The Newspaper Press.

At the late Fillmore Supper, at the Irving House, New York, this was one of the Toasts:

The Newspaper Press.—An instrument of tremendous and augmenting power.
May it always be in hands worthy to wield it.

When drunk, there were calls of Greeley, Brooks, Webb, King, and finally for Mr. Raymond, of the New York Courier and Enquirer. At last,

Mr. Raymond rose and said he deemed it most unfortunate, for this occasion at least, that the Whigs of the city should have taken from the Press two of its most distinguished members, for, on being applied to to-night to respond to the toast, they had replied that they had nothing to do with newspapers—they were Members of Congress! He hoped they would be brought down a peg and made to remember the pit from which they had been dug—-and that, if they or either of them could be found, they would be forced to respond in a speech to the toast that had just been offered.

Being called upon to go on, Mr. R. said he savored of imposition upon the audience that he, perhaps the youngest, and certainly the least able and worthy member of the Press present, should respond to such a toast. He was, moreover, somewhat in the predicament of Sir John Falstaff—who "lost his voice from singing anthems and hurraing for Old Sack," which was proof, by the way, that old Jack was one of the original Taylor men.
—Besides, if anything on the face of the earth might fairly be left to speak for itself and sound its own praises, he thought it was the Newspaper Press.—They had a faculty of boasting somewhat in the olden time, and history tells us of one Archimedes who bragged that if he had a place where to stand, he could move the world.
But now you couldn't open a seven-by-nine sheet in any part of the world without finding therein set forth the claim that without fulcrum, or lever, or any thing else, it could alone, not only move the world, but upset the universe!

And yet, he said, it was not fair to deny to the Press any of the power which it claims. Why should it not have power, he asked. Suppose that you, Sir, or any intelligent man, could go each day to any man and tell him all he knew of the events transpiring in the world around him—making upon them your own comment, setting forth the principles they establish and the light in which you think they are to be viewed. No matter what might be that man's opinion of you at first, how is it possible that you should not influence his judgment in the end? Now each newspaper visits each day, perhaps ten thousand readers, tells them every morning all the events of the day, makes up on them its own comment, and shapes their opinions in regard to them. And this it does month after month and year after year. Why then, should not its power be "tremendous" upon public opinion, which, in the end, is the true Sovereign that rules the world?

The toast intimates a doubt that the Press is always in the most worthy hands.
The doubt is just. And it would be strange, indeed, if it were otherwise.
Consider, in the first place, that newspapers are printed primarily, as a matter of gain—of livelihood; and if you and I the public will buy and pay for that which is not the best, where is the wonder that men will be found to write, and print and sell it? He did not justify them in so doing—but only asked that in judging them, you do not erect a standard above that of other professions. Some old philosopher, King Solomon, or the Apostle Paul, or it might be a Roman Consul, (his recollection was somewhat indistinct,) had made the profound remark that there is a great deal of human nature in man; and it should be remembered that Editors are but men, and are not therefore exempt from the frailties and prejudices and passions that beset humanity—for no one will very strenuously insist now-a-days, that by becoming an Editor a man becomes necessitate rei, an angel.

Consider, again, how articles are written. If a lawyer is to defend a horse thief, he takes a week to collect evidence, and sift it, and arrange it, and then he comes into court at leisure, prepared to make the best of a bad case. But if the Telegraph brings word at midnight that all Europe is involved in war, you, gentlemen, expect that we of the Press should lay down the law of nations in regard to it, and either vindicate or denounce it, on your behalf, in time for breakfast next morning!—And then scripta manent—when once written down, the judgment must stand!

Now, all these are drawbacks upon the profession of an Editor, and the Press needs reform. But how shall it be done?

By denunciation from the pulpit? By your scolding to enter into newspaper contests, as you style them, and leaving the Press entirely to the least worthy hands?
When will men learn that Reform not only does not imply, but excludes, by its very nature, the very idea of destruction?
How do you who are horticulturalists reform a tree that does not bear good fruit?
By grafting it, not by cutting it down.
So do, then, in regard to the Press. Denounce it not—destroy it not; do not abuse it—but write for it. You, who know so well what the Press should be—you who have the ability, the education, the qualifications for such a task—deem it no longer beneath your dignity to write for newspapers. Look upon the Press as it is, as a great engine capable of being used with tremendous power for the public good. Write for it. Graft it with your choicer buds, and then will you see it bringing forth fruit worthy its position, worthy of you, and for the healthful food of all mankind.

But, not to prolong these remarks, Mr.
R. said he would simply refer to the agency the Press had in the great canvass we have just closed. It was not for him to speak of its motives or the efficiency of its action; but he would venture the belief that in either of these respects it would bear comparison with any profession, no more numerous, no more wealthy and with no more adventurous circumstances in its support. It now re-joices, with a joy as great as that we feel to-night, over the glorious result we are met to celebrate. And now it has a duty to perform in order to prevent this victory from proving barren. Let it infuse into the public mind the necessity of caution, of discretion, of forbearance, and of warm and self-sacrificing patriotism in reference to the Administration which the people have called into power.
Let it remind the people that even President Taylor, great as he is in all the elements of a powerful personal character, and clothed as he is with all the powers of that great office, and aided as he is by a patriotic Whig Congress, cannot work miracles.—Cannot, with a wave of his wand, bring up this Republic from the corruption and evil into which long years of misrule have plunged it. It will require long and careful devotion to the public good, to place the common-wealth upon that high and firm basis of prosperity, which a permanent and settled habit of virtuous action can alone erect.

Mr. R. closed by declaring his belief that the Whig party, with General Taylor at its head, would fully redeem all the just expectations of a considerable People.—that it would evince its care or the rights of all sections, and the interests of all classes;—and that it would carry into full effect the service embodied in a former toast, the response to which he was sorry to notice had been passed over,—that this Country will now and always extend the welcome of a brother's heart, and the aid of a brother's hand, to every worthy child of God, from whatever spot of earth he may have first beheld the light of Heaven. We have often been told that the Whig party is dead —and its principles obsolete. His opinion was embodied in a toast; with which he would close:—

The Principles of the Whig Party:— They may have sunk,—but "so sinks the day-star in the ocean bed"—only to replenish his fires, and with more glorious light and more resplendent beams to

"Flame in the forehead of the morning sky!"

The Empty Cradle.

"And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flower that she most did love;
She knew she'd find them all again,
In the fields of light above."

The death of a little child is to the mother's heart like the night dew on a plant from which a bud has perished.
The plant lifts up its head in freshened greenness to the morning light; so the mother's soul gathers from the dark sorrow through which she has passed, a fresh brightening of her heavenly hopes.

As she bends over the empty cradle and fancy brings her sweet infant before her, a ray of divine light is on the cherub face. It is her son still, but with the seal of immortality on his fair brow. She feels that Heaven was the only atmosphere where her precious flower could unfold without spot or blemish, and she would not recall the lost. But the anniversary of his departure seems to bring her spiritual presence near her. She indulges in that tender grief which soothes, like an opiate in pain, all the hard passages and cares of life. The world is no longer with her. She lives in the past, so sweet with human love and hope—in the future, so glorious with heavenly love and joy. She has treasures of happiness which the worldly, unchastened heart never conceived. The bright, fresh flowers with which she has decorated her room, the apartment where her infant died, are emblems of the far brighter hopes now dawning on her day-dream. She thinks of the glory and beauty of the new Jerusalem, where the little foot will never find a thorn among the flowers to render a shoe necessary. Nor will a pillow be wanting, for the dear head reposes on that of the kind Savior. And she knows her dear infant is there, in that world of eternal bliss. She has marked one passage in that Book—to her emphatically the Word of Life—now lying closed on her toilet-table, which she daily reads:—"Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for such is the kingdom of heaven."

Revenge.

Banish all malignant and revengeful thoughts. A spirit of revenge is a spirit of the devil; than which nothing makes a man more like him, and nothing can be more opposite to the temper which Christianity was designed to promote. If your revenge be not satisfied it will torment you now; if it be,
it will give you greater hereafter.
None is a greater self-tormentor than a malignant and revengeful man, who turns the poison of his own temper upon himself. The Christian precept on this case, is "Let not the sun go down upon your wrath;" and this precept, Plutarch tells us, the Pythoreans practiced in a literal sense:—
"Who, if at any time in a passion, they broke out into opprobrious language, before the sun set gave one another their hands, and with them a discharge from all injuries; and so, with a mutual reconciliation, parted friends."—None.

"Yet drunk again, hey?"
"No my love, (hic) not drunk but slippery, (hic). The fact is, my dear, somebody has been rubbing the bottom of my boots, (hic) till they're smooth as a pane of glass."

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

The Senate was called to order at ten o'clock on Monday last, by Mr. Blockson of Columbiana, temporarily taking the Chair. The members were all present, and those that were elected this year were then sworn in.

The Senate then proceeded to ballot for Speaker—six ballotings were had when all resulted as follows:

John F. Beaver, 18; James H. Ewing, 17; Blank, 1.

No choice having been effected, on motion of Mr. Whitman, the Senate adjourned until ten o'clock the next day.

On the afternoon of Tuesday Mr. Randall of Ashtabula, free soil whig, was elected Speaker, on the sixteenth balloting. The vote stood:

Randall 19; Dennison 18; Beaver 4.

Progress of the Revolution.

A sketch of the proceedings in attempting to organize the House of Representatives will be found in to-day's paper. By the latest accounts from Columbus, which come up to Wednesday evening, the same state of things still existed—both parties still retained their separate organizations. To say that the proceedings of the Locofocos in this business are disgraceful is using too gentle a term—they are absolutely outrageous and criminal. A settled purpose to trample upon the law of the State has been manifested from the first step taken on Monday morning. They determined to force in the two Locofocos from Cincinnati, although it was in acknowledged violation of the law districting the State. And they showed by their conduct that they were afraid to trust legal and orderly modes for settling their pretensions. But in order to sustain their fraudulent claims they must go in and take possession of the House before the usual time of meeting, and held on to their seats by mere brute force. We understand up to the latest accounts they remained in the House day and night, afraid to leave for a moment lest the Whigs should rush in and get undisputed possession.

The leaders of the Locofoco party have declared their purpose ever since last spring to revolutionize the Government in case they could not obtain power otherwise. And their conduct at Columbus affords proof that they are capable of adopting any means however lawless to effect their darling object of getting control of the offices and treasury of the State. A pack of ravenous dogs could not hold on to a disputed bone with more pertinacity than these Locofocos hold on night and day to their places. And if perseverance, disregard of decency, of law, and the dignity and decorum that should characterize a legislative body, will carry their points, they will be sure to prevail. But we trust that the Whig members will attempt nothing but what can be justified by law and right, and that they will submit to nothing that is wrong. The people of the State have elected Whig members sufficient to make a majority of four in the House, and we trust they will not suffer themselves and the people to be defrauded or bullied out of their rights. But that they will maintain their position with firmness. They have offered to compromise by all the disputed members from Cincinnati retiring until their claims are decided upon. But this proposition the Locofocos have refused to listen to. And the Whigs should not make any further concessions, for this is a fair one, and will be sustained by the people. And if the locofocos will not take up this liberal and fair offer, let them take the responsibility of breaking up the Legislature.

The First Monday in December, 1848.—The Legislature of Ohio—Its Organization in a French Style!!

This day, the Legislature of Ohio should have organized according to the Constitution. Whether it has done so, is a question now mooted between two large and respectable bodies of men, each claiming the powers, rights, duties, emoluments and obligations of a House of Representatives, and each apparently determined to retain those franchises by every means which skill can invent, and the utmost vigilance achieve. What will be the result of this Siamese condition of our political affairs, is a question so far involved in the mists of obscurity and doubt, that to attempt its solution would be idle, as an attempt to unravel any other enigma whose leaves may be changed, and whose dictations may be averted by the next breeze that blows upon them.

At eight o'clock this morning, the ears of the public were saluted with a faint ringing of the bell of the State House, in a manner slightly partaking of the character of a fire alarm, but sounding more like the first efforts of a quiet ring, by some roguish boy who had stolen into the bellry. It continued but for a moment, however, and ceased without having excited the popular attention. There was those however, who were upon the alert—men who were determined to earn their first three dollars by an exemplary act of early rising, and by getting to their Legislative labor in season. To these men the doors of the State House opened as if by magic—they walked in and filled the area, while at their heels came a crowd, incited doubtless by curiosity and with that laudable determination which all men exhibit, to be present whenever any of their species are about to attempt an extraordinary demonstration. Instantly a motion was made that Mr. Leiter, of Stark, take the chair—a few men said aye—Mr. Leiter was already in his seat behind the Clerk's desk. A call was made for the members from Hamilton county—Messrs. Long, Armstrong, Roedter, Pough and Pierce presented themselves, and were hastily sworn in by Judge Reed, who had risen early for that purpose, and the Locofocos present drew a long deep breath of relief, after so tremendous an effort. Other members to the number of thirty-seven were then sworn in as they appeared, and the House, thus constituted, rested from its labors.

Chairman—The House will please come to order.

A voice—This is not the ordinary time for the House to assemble; wait till the bell rings. (Loud applause in the third tier.)

At half past nine, after the ringing of the bell of the State House in the usual manner, Mr. Holcomb of Gallia, made his appearance upon the steps of the Speaker's desk, called upon the assembly to come to order, and introduced Mr. Swift, the clerk of the House of Representatives of last year, whom he requested to call the roll of members.

Mr. Leiter—I will call the roll, I believe I am entitled to the chair. And Mr. Leiter proceeded to call from a paper which he held in his hand.

Mr. Olds, of Pickaway, remarked that in the call then making he did not hear the name of Hamilton county, and requested that a call might be made for the members from those districts.

Mr. Leiter.—Call the members that have not answered. Gentlemen, you will please forward your certificates.

The call went on—nobody answering. While this was being done, a voice from the Whig side—The House is ready to proceed to organize in the usual form, and the Clerk is present to assist in its organization by calling the roll of members. According to custom, I move that Gen. Holcomb take the chair.

A call was made from the ayes and nays, and Gen. Holcomb was declared elected. He took his place and the call was about to commence.

Mr. Leiter.—This is out of order. Voice.—Has the gentleman been sworn?

Another.—That makes no difference.

Call for Hamilton county—it has not been called.

Mr. Leiter.—The number of Representatives to which Hamilton county is entitled is full, no further call will be made.

A Voice.—Does the Chairman decline?

A Voice.—I move that Hamilton county be called again.

Mr. Leiter.—The question is—shall Ham—

Has that gentleman been sworn in? Proceed with the call.

Mr. Leiter.—All in favor of that question. The Clerk will proceed to call the roll.

Who is the Clerk? Who appointed him?

The roll is called, and all answer 'No.'

A Voice.—Louder! Mr. Clerk! (Immense applause.) Let the old Clerk proceed to call the roll in the usual form that we may organize according to law.

Mr. Leiter.—That's out of order. (Great laughter in all parts of the House.) Mr. Leiter then proceeds to call the districts of the State from his paper. Nobody answers.

A Voice.—No use to proceed with that call. (Laughter.)

Mr. Leiter.—The call is going on, sir! Gentlemen, you will please present your certificates if you have any. (Applause.) It will take some time to swear you all in, gentlemen, if you don't answer to your names?

Mr. Holcomb.—The clerk will call the roll of members—they will come forward, as they are called and take the oath of office, which qualifies them for their duty as members of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Swift proceeds to call; Mr. Leiter also commences calling, and a scene of ludicrous uproar follows—shouts of 'Go it old fellow!' 'Now go ahead.' 'Whew!' 'Put 'em through,' &c.

Mr. Leiter.—Gentlemen you make too much noise and confusion. (Screams of laughter.) You must keep still. (More noise than ever.) If you want to organize the lobby, you must go there. (Applause.)

Mr. Swift calls and Mr. Leiter calls, amid yells of order.

Mr. Holcomb.—Gentlemen will you please keep quiet! (Yells.) Will the Whigs that are in the House endeavor to preserve its quiet and dignity?

Mr. Swift.—The member from Knox and Holmes.

Mr. Leiter.—The member from Knox and Holmes. (Great and unceasing uproar.)

Mr. Swift.—The member from Medina.

Mr. Leiter.—The member from Mercer, Allen and Auglaize.

Mr. Leiter.—The member from Mercer, Allen and Auglaize. (Uproar still increasing.)

A Voice.—Mr. Chairman, I move—let it go on.

What's the use now? You'd better—Go ahead. (Applause.)

Mr. Holcomb.—The members will be sworn.

The oath was administered in the proper form.

'Hold up your hands,' said one, 'and your heads,' said somebody in the lobby.

Who appointed—

'None of your business!'

A Voice.—Mr. Chairman, I move that we proceed to elect a Speaker.

Aye, No-o-o; Lost. Hurra.

A motion was made to adjourn, was put by Mr. Holcomb, and carried, and thereupon the House was evacuated by the Whigs; having taken a recess until two o'clock, P. M.

It is no more than justice to the whole performance to say that while on the part of the Locofocos it shows a criminal design which is ready to resort to the most contemptible means for its execution, the criminality of the thing has been overshadowed and buried in its intense ridiculousness. And this is increased a thousand fold by the fact has leaked out in the course of the day, that so much afraid were the Locofocos that this game would be played by the Whigs, that the wise-ones actually sat up the whole of last night that they might be ready to turn out and resist in case the Whigs should be found endeavoring to make a House of Representatives, by stealing into the hall in the dark, and organizing before cock-crowing. We hope the people of Ohio will not form unchangeable opinions regarding the wisdom of their Representatives, from this, their first act.

Ohio State Journal—for the Session.

The time is already at hand when, according to the requirements of the Constitution of Ohio, the Representatives of the People will assemble at the Capitol, for the annual transaction of such business as the public exigencies may require. Questions of moment, affecting the interests of the State and of the People, will engage the attention of the Legislature, and impart lively and lasting interest to the whole community. As a means of gratifying this interest, the proprietors of the Ohio State Journal will be prepared to render a prompt and faithful account of the daily transactions of the General Assembly, as they shall transpire. To do this, a great expense on their part will be necessarily incurred.

In lieu of the usual indefinite mode of subscribing for the Session, without regard to its duration, we propose to supply those who may choose to patronize our press, with the Ohio State Journal for the period of three months commencing with the first Monday in December, at one-fourth the price of the regular annual subscription. This period will in all probability embrace more than the term of the Legislative Session, and will continue during the entire session of Congress.

For a reimbursement of the large outlays which we must necessarily incur to carry out this arrangement, we look with confidence for an enlarged and liberally sustained circulation of our paper; and we ask of those into whose hands this prospectus may fall—and especially of such as favorably appreciate our labors in upholding and advancing the whig cause for which our fathers were content to labor—to aid us in procuring subscriptions, and forwarding the pay. As the State Journal relies for support exclusively upon the patronage of a discerning public, and is in no way connected with the State Printing, it becomes unavoidably necessary as a prudent means of self-preservation, that subscriptions for less than a year should be paid invariably in advance.

A crisis is at hand in the affairs of the State of Ohio. The People have, in the usual manner, chosen their representatives. But in some instances the Clerks of the Courts have taken upon themselves to place themselves, in the end of the people and the laws and by their own act of assumed authority, to constitute members of the General Assembly, in derogation of both the laws of the land, and of the popular will! We are prepared to see persons thus furnished with credentials, present themselves at the bar of the House, and claim to be recognized as members of the General Assembly! We are prepared to see these fraudulent and counterfeit claims zealously sustained by the unscrupulous leaders of a thoroughly organized party, and the acts of those leaders defended by a reckless and mercenary press. It is the business and bounden duty of the sovereign people, to vindicate the majesty of the laws, and to protect and defend the Constitution, as it was framed and transmitted to them by their fathers. It remains to be seen whether the Ark of our political Covenant is to be committed to the ruthless hands of factionists and disorganizers, or preserved sacred and inviolate. And while questions of such magnitude and vitality are pending it behooves the people to keep constant vigils.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

The following certificate is only another link in the great chain of testimony to its merits. Let the afflicted read and be convinced. What it has done once, it will do again—
MADISONVILLE, Ky., Feb. 22, 1845.

Messrs. A. B. & D. SANDS—Having used your Sarsaparilla in my family, and witnessed its beneficial effects on one of my children I feel it to be a duty I owe the community to make the case public. About two years ago my little son was attacked with Scrofula or King's Evil, which broke out in eight or nine places round the neck and jaw, and finally effected his eyes, rendering him entirely blind. During the first year from the time he was taken, he was attended by several physicians, but continued to get worse until I despaired of his ever getting well. Having seen your Sarsaparilla advertised with certificates of its cures, I concluded I would give it a trial, and accordingly sent to Cincinnati and procured a few bottles, and now, after having used nine bottles, I have the gratification of saying he is well. The sores are all entirely healed, and his sight nearly as good as ever it was; and I have no hesitation in saying, that he was entirely cured by the use of your Sarsaparilla.

Yours truly, E. BASSETT.

Dr. G. C. Vaughns Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture, the Great American Remedy is attracting the notice of the principal papers all over the country. Not a Journal of any respectability, but what has commented upon the great fame of this medicine. It has been introduced all over the world, and has earned for itself a reputation never before equalled by an article in the line, in this or any other country. The stories told of its singular power over disease of every nature, serve to strengthen the belief that magic has an agency in the matter, and the facts as they stand forth in the blaze of noonday, stripped of all embellishments, are truly startling. No other medicine is ever thought of in many of our most populous villages and towns, and the voices we might almost say of millions, cured of all kinds of complaints are heard of in its praise. See our columns, call on Agents of the Great American Remedy this Lithontriptic Mixture, and get a pamphlet.

WISTAR'S

Balsam of Wild Cherry,

The Great Remedy for Consumption of the Lungs, Affections of the Liver, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pains or Weakness of the Breast or Lungs, Chronic Cough, Pleurisy, Hemorrhage of the Lungs, and all other Affections of the Pulmonary Organs.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—Beware of a base counterfeit of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, signed by one Wm. M. Spear, who, in order to palm his vile imitation upon the public, has obtained a fac simile of our bottle, and copied our label of directions verbatim, substituting his own name for that of Henry Wistar, M. D., which is found on the genuine.

Remember, the outside label or wrapper of the genuine Balsam is a finely executed steel plate engraving bearing the signature of Henry Wistar, M. D., and Sanford & Park—none other can be genuine.

Testimony of Doctors in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Exeter, Me., Sept. 30, 1835.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for diseases of the Lungs for two years past, and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases, where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure.

E. BOYDEN, Physician at, Exeter Corner.

Dr. Wm. A. Shaw, of Washington, N. C., writes under date of May 1, 1846, as follows:

"I have heard of many cases of decided beneficial effects from its use, especially in asthma and chronic cough of spasmodic character. I have used the Wild Cherry a great deal in practice, and with marked good results in those cases of great nervous mobility and irritability to which phthisical patients are subject. The combination of these principles in Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is ingenious and judicious."

Dr. Hoffman, Huntington, Pa., cured a child of asthma with it, after he declared he could do no more with his medicine, and the child must die.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured a complaint of four years' standing, that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Round-brook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for consumption in every stage that he has ever known. We might refer you to hundreds of cases, had we room, that would convince all of its great virtue.

ALBANY, Mass., July 30, 1845.

ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE CURES ON RECORD.—DEAR SIR: Having experienced great benefit from your invaluable medicine, I feel it my duty and privilege to let the world know what it has done for me. Possessed of a strong constitution naturally, I enjoyed perfect health previous to the spring of 1843, when I was troubled with a difficulty in my left side, attended with considerable pain. Some time in July I was violently attacked with a cough which continued until fall; then I was confirmed to the house for eight months, during which time my cough was very severe. I frequently had spells of coughing which lasted two hours, and raised large quantities of disagreeable matter accompanied with blood. Sometime I raised a quart of blood at a time. I consulted three physicians, all of whom did their best to restore me; gave me up; said they could do no more for me; I must die; it was impossible for me to live but a short time. One of them said my lungs were gone. At this critical moment, when eminent physicians had exhausted their skill, friends despaired of my life, and my own hopes of recovery at an end, I resorted to DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. When I had taken one and a half bottles, those severe spells of coughing were removed. I continued to take the Balsam until the spring of 1844, when I ceased to bleed at the lungs; my health and strength improved so that I was able to leave the house, but was not able to work for a year. Now my health is good—I am able to do a day's work every day on my farm. JAMES COMERY.

STEPHEN COLWELL, Administrator of Benjamin Biggs, dec. Benjamin Biggs, Washington L. Biggs, Zuehus Biggs, George Biggs, John Biggs, Allen Biggs, William Irwin, and Henrietta his wife, Benjamin B. Anderson, William Merritt, and Sarah Ann his wife, James Anderson, Allen Anderson, Priscilla E. Anderson, William W. Anderson, Julian Anderson, George M. Anderson, Mary Jane Anderson, Cyrus P. Beatty, and William Anderson, are notified that on the 20th day of September, A.D., 1848, the Trustees of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Steubenville filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Union county, Ohio, a Bill in chancery, which asserts that in May, 1817, said Bank was the owner of a note drawn by Andrew Howlett or Henlit, to John Flack, for about $3800, which note was endorsed to Benjamin Biggs, and by him to said Bank: That at the November Term of the Court of Common Pleas of Union county, 1823, said Bank recovered judgment in attachment against Biggs, on said note for about $5275.66 by virtue of which the Sheriff sold said Bank Military Entries and Surveys number 4074 and 4075 in Union county and made to said Bank a Deed: That at the July term, 1827, of the Supreme Court of Union county, said Judgment was reversed: That all parties treated the title as in the Bank, but that Stephen Colwell, who became administrator of said Benjamin Biggs, the owner of said land, until sold under said attachment, demanded restitution from the Bank of the amount of the purchase money of said land and interest: That said Bank brought suit in the court of common Pleas of Jefferson county, on said note, and at the October term, 1827, of the Supreme court of Jefferson county, the Bank recovered on said note against said administrator of Biggs who had died, for $6,168.67, and the administrator had a set-off of $1,420.05, the amount for which said land was sold to said Bank with interest, and said amount was deducted and judgment rendered against the administrator for $5,026.05: That said Trustees are now proceeding by scirefacias to revive said judgment in the Supreme court of Jefferson county: That defendants claim title to said land and have ejectment suits pending in the United States circuit court in the District of Ohio, to recover said lands. That defendants are about to sell said premises to prevent the collection of said claim of said Trustees. The bill prays that the title of the Bank and their vendees now in possession may be quieted: That said Trustees have a lien on all of said surveys (including 150 acres of survey No. 4074 not sold under said attachment, but now held by Biggs' heirs) for the amount of said note, judgment claim, set off, restitution, &c., and prays that defendants may be enjoined from selling said lands and that they may be sold to satisfy claims.

The defendants are notified that unless they appear and plead, answer or demur to said Bill within 60 days from the next term of said court in Union county, claimants will at that or some subsequent term, apply for a decree as prayed, &c.

MAN may get mad for opinions, sake, but who can get mad for facts? When the sick say they had rather have one 25 cent box of Dr. Le Roy's Wild Cherry and Sarsaparilla Pill than a whole dollar bottle of Sarsaparilla Syrup or Wild Cherry Bitters. We can only say it is a judicious choice, from the fact that the Wild Cherry and Sarsaparilla Pills are a strengthening, purgative, and a purifying Tonic. They tone and invigorate the system, they purge and purify. And we challenge the world to produce another medicine that has this happy effect upon the system. These Pills can be taken without regard to working, or eating, or weather. Do not wait until you are stretched upon the sick bed, when you are wracked with pains and scorched with fevers. You may prevent all of this by taking Le Roy's Pills, and you will agree with me when you try one box. If females know their great virtue they would not be without a box if they had to pay $1.00 instead of 25 cents. These Pills never fail to cure the chills and fever when they take 4 pills and repeat the dose every 6 hours for 12, 18 or 24 hours—24 hours is the longest any one has ever been known to take them. For Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Sick Headache, this medicine has no rival. One box will satisfy the most incredulous in any case, however stubborn it may be. Full directions accompany each box. The genuine article is sold by R. PICKET, in Marysville. Also, for sale in all the towns in the country. May 10. n51m3.

FEVER & AGUE

Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Intermittent & Remittent Fevers, & all the various forms of Bilious Diseases

SPEEDILY & THOROUGHLY CURED

By Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue

OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE

for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Intermittent and Remittent Fevers, Liver complaint, Jaundice, Enlargement of the Spleen, and all the various forms of Bilious Diseases.

The following extract is from the "Farmer's and Emigrant's Hand Book," a valuable work of about five hundred pages recently published by Messrs. Appleton & Co., New York. In chapter 3, page 235, the author, speaking of Fever and Ague, remarks:

"There is a valuable medicine sold in most of the western cities, which we can conscientiously recommend for Fever and Ague and other bilious diseases; it is the India Cholagogue, which is prepared by Dr. Osgood of New York, who has made the bilious disorders of the west his special duty. We are no friend to those medicines usually called Patent, but we have ample opportunity of knowing the invaluable effects of the Cholagogue in bilious cases."

The speedy and permanent relief afforded by the Cholagogue, arises from its prompt and healthy action upon the blood, cleansing it from the bile and restoring it to purity; thus striking at the root. Its tendency is not simply to suspend disease, but to remove the cause on which it depends. It is equally adapted to all ages and conditions of the system.

From S. F. Cary, Counsellor at Law, to the agents in Cincinnati:

Cincinnati, October 11, 1846.

Messrs. Sanford & Park: In June last I was attacked with that most afflicting and unpleasant disease the chill and Fever. The paroxysms returned daily and were very severe.—My physical energies had tried several favorite remedies without relief; a friend in whom I had confidence recommended Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. I procured a bottle and followed the accompanying directions. The consequence was that I had but one paroxysm after taking the first dose; and my general health was rapidly restored without using any other medicine. I disposed of the remainder of the bottle to two other persons similarly afflicted and with the same results. One of them had been shaking for eight months and was relieved in two days by the use of the Cholagogue. I consider it my duty, as it is my pleasure to recommend it, having the most entire confidence in its sanative power. Yours truly, S. F. CARY.

Sold in Cincinnati, corner of Fourth & Walnut streets, by JOHN D. PARK successor to Sanford & Park, General Agent for the Western States. Also, by local agents in nearly every town in the south and west. Also by RODNEY PICKET, Marysville, O.; A. KEYES, Milford; MANN & HERR, Mechanicsburg; and KAUFFMAN & NELSON, Urbana.

Be sure you ask for "Osgood's India Cholagogue," and no other. J. D. P. July 19, 1848. n9m4
